WEDDING

VIMES-SEEGER

A quiet wedding was held Oct. 27th, at 2 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Morrison, Calgary, sister of the bride, when Irene Seeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Seeger of Chinook, Alberta, was united in marriage to Lac. Vimes of RCAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vimes, Crystal City, Man. by Rev. L. Anderson.

The bride given away by her father, entered the room wearing a blue afternoon dress with a shoulder length veil and carrying a bouquet of pink roses.

The bridesmaid Miss Helen Brassard wore a rose dress with a shoulder length veil to match and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Lac. Russell A. who is also stationed at Calgary.

After the reception which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morrison and was attended by seventeen guests.

The bride and groom left for Banff on their honeymoon.

For going away the bride wore a black tailored suit with red accessories.

After the honeymoon the happy couple will reside in Calgary where the groom is now stationed.

Ottawa, October 31 Tuesday sales ninth victory loan were a record $120,348,300 against $77,036,000 for the same day in eighth loan, cumulative total at end of first eight days $694,967,300 against $577,041,150.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Chinook Advance will cease publication after this week's issue of the paper.

The Chinook Advance was established in 1914 by the late Mr. Arthur Nicholson, and has been carried on ever since (with the exception of about four months after the publishers' death), when the printing plant was rented to Mr. Robert Smith, now of Westlock for a few years. On October 1st 1927, I took over the management, and have published the Chinook Advance up to the present time.

It is with regret that I have decided to discontinue publication. While the work was rather hard at times, it was a real pleasure to work with the people of Chinook and district.

I take this opportunity to thank all my advertisers and subscribers for their whole-hearted support and kindness at all times.

To any who may have paid their subscription in advance, please call and money will be returned and to those who are in arrears call at office or house.

Yours Very Truly,

Margaret C. Nicholson

FARM MACHINERY OFF RATION LIST

All rationing controls have been removed from sales of farm machinery, and restrictions on the production or importation of such machinery have been lifted.

Price controls remain. Generally, maximum price for farm implements is the price at which such items sold during the basic period, August 15—September 11, 1941. Quoted prices do not include cost of delivery to the purchaser.

Under Consumers' Credit Order No. 225, section 10, terms of sale for farm machinery are: 1/3 of quoted price paid in cash; the balance of the credit price to be paid within two years of the date of the contract in stated amounts at specified dates. Any allowance for a trade-in is to be deducted from the unpaid balance.

Despite the lifting of production restrictions, it is expected that the shortage of components such as malleable castings and sheet steel will limit the maximum output of farm implements during the year July 1, 1945, to June 30, 1946, to a 24% increase (on tonnage basis) over the output in the preceding 12 months.

Farmers' Poultry Prices

Farmers selling all types of poultry, except turkeys, direct to consumers are permitted a 25% markup over the wholesale ceiling prices established for the zone in which they are located. Turkey producers are allowed a 20% markup over the wholesale level.

Potato Storage Allowance

(Order A-1560 now in effect)

A storage allowance of 5c per 75-lb. bag of potatoes and 7c per 100-lb. bag is allowed on November 1. Another 5c per 75-lb. bag and 6c per 100-lb. bag may be added on December 1, and another 5c per 75-lb. bag and 7c per 100-lb. bag on January 1, 1946. There will be no storage adjustment for February but monthly increases will be resumed on March 1.

FARMERS' RATION COUPONS

Coupons covering farmer sales or farm household consumption of meat and butter, and sales of preserves must be forwarded to Local Ration Boards in primary producers' envelopes (RB-61). Reports for November should reach the Local Ration Board not later than December 10. Following are the valid coupon dates for November:

	MEAT	BUTTER	SUGAR	PRESERVES
November 1.....	M 9	128
" 8.....	M 10
" 15.....	M 11	129	66, 67	P 20, 21
" 22.....	M 12	130
" 29.....	M 13	131

Farmers are required to send in "M" coupons to the Local Ration Board for meat they consume, and meat they sell to farmer neighbours at the rate of 4 lbs. per coupon. Farmers who slaughter meat need not turn in at the end of the month more than half the valid meat coupons in the ration books of their household. Farmers who purchase meat from other farmers must surrender to the selling farmer one meat coupon for every 4 lbs. of meat purchased, even if this means surrendering coupons not yet valid.

FARM SLAUGHTERERS

Farmers who slaughter for their own household consumption or for the consumption of their farmer neighbours, are not required to hold a slaughter permit. Any excess of farm slaughtered meat over the farmer's or his neighbour's needs may be sold only to the holder of a regular slaughter permit in quantities not less than a quarter of beef or a side of pork. Sheep, lambs or calves slaughtered by the farmer for his own or his neighbours' use may not be sold into the meat trade.

Licensed slaughterer's quotas for cattle have been temporarily suspended and until further notice a licensed slaughterer may slaughter all the cattle needed for his requirements.

Rationing

is your assurance of a fair share. is a protection against waste... shortages... inflation. That is why farmers are asked to continue to collect and turn in coupons to their Local Ration Boards—once a month—in the RB-61 envelope.

A Sound Banking System

UNDER OUR PRESENT economic system, banks are closely associated with the industrial and financial life of a nation, and they have powers and responsibilities, which if wisely used, may contribute much toward national welfare and security. It has recently been shown that in Japan, the banks had been used as instruments of the military clique there, and their policies had not been to the best interests of the Japanese people. The banks of all nations have been affected by the chaotic world conditions which resulted from the war, and they face further difficult problems during the reconstruction period. It has already been seen that it will be some time before normal conditions of production are again established, and international trade and finance are restored to peacetime levels, especially in those countries whose industries and resources were destroyed during the war. Banks will no doubt have a large share in the great task of world reconstruction which is now commencing.

An Unusually Strong System

Canada is fortunate in having a banking system which is considered to be among the most efficient and dependable in the world. In a recent article on this subject, published by the Royal Bank of Canada, a number of interesting facts are discussed. The powers and business of our banks are clearly defined in the Bank Act, passed originally in 1871, but subject to revision every ten years by a committee of the House of Commons. Changes may also be made between revisions, making our banking system a product of evolution and still pliable, rather than a creation of lawyers and statesmen arrived at once, and fixed for all time. There are ten chartered banks under the Bank Act and only they, and two old established savings banks, in addition to the Bank of Canada, are entitled to call themselves "banks" and to use the word "banking" to describe their business. Three Canadian banks have assets of over one billion dollars each and our banking system was recently described by Finance Minister J. L. Halsey, as one of "unusual strength."

Heavy Demands On Services

The banks, in common with business organizations and the general public, carried added responsibilities during the war. One of their most serious wartime problems was lack of staff, since a high percentage of the pre-war male staff under forty-five were in the armed forces. They were replaced by young women, but this decrease in experienced staff came at a time when there was a greatly increased demand for banking services. The complicated machinery for the floating of the various war loans was put in motion with the help of the banks. In addition they sell war savings stamps and war savings certificates without remuneration, and perform many other services for the government in connection with rationing, providing for the requirements of the armed forces and numerous other matters. They are now taking part in the task of re-establishing returning service men in the best way possible. Canada is fortunate to have such a sound and well organized banking system during the critical times through which we are passing.

Fancy Uniforms All Look Alike To Man From Ohio

Laslo Vadany, who has been collaborating with Louis Bromfield in a new play, checked out of the Hotel Plaza to catch a train for Bromfield's home in Mansfield, Ohio, says the New York Post. He was about to enter the cab when he remembered that he had forgotten to tip the uniformed doorman who did many favors for him. Vadany quickly placed a $5 bill into the hand of the uniformed man at the door, and then went off. Weeks later, when Vadany returned to the Plaza, the desk clerk told him an envelope, with a $5 bill in it, was being held for the "playwright." "But that was for the uniformed doorman," said Vadany. "I gave it to him." "No," he was told, "you gave it to the uniformed Danish Ambassador."

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—My son has just returned from prison camp in Japan. He has been told that extra rations may be obtained for him. Could you tell me if this is correct?

A—Extra food rations may be secured for Canada's army personnel who have been repatriated from Japanese prison camps. These extra rations will be obtainable for three months to offset the long months of malnutrition they have endured.

Q—I am quite handy at sewing and make stuffed toys, purses and other small gifts. Should I have a price placed on these articles before I sell them?

A—Yes. If you write to your nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board, you will be given a Homecraft Manufacturer's permit. Samples of your handwork should be forwarded also so that a price can be given you.

Q—Have the meat coupons any expiry date?

A—As yet no meat coupons have been declared invalid. Announcement will be made when any ration coupons are to be declared invalid.

Q—Are price tags supposed to be placed on wearing apparel which is on display in store windows?

A—Wearing apparel which is on display in a window need not have a price tag in evidence, but if this wearing apparel is displayed for sale in the store it must be properly tagged.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlets "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your selling prices, mentioning the name of the paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Fastest Plane

Jet-Propelled Airplanes Exceed Speeds Of Over 500 Miles Per Hour

The Gloster Meteor, jet-propelled airplane is "the fastest, hard-hitting airplane in full quantity production in the world." British aircraft designer W. W. Dowding said in an interview at Toronto. It would remain so for two or three years.

Dowding, who has made two jet planes ready for an attempt at a world speed record at Herne Bay, England, arrived in Toronto recently with Sir Roy Dobson of the Hawker Siddeley Co. which will take over the plant of Victory Aircraft, Ltd., at nearby Malton.

Dowding said that jet-propelled planes, as fitted in the Gloster Meteor, achieved speeds "well in excess" of 500 miles an hour.

Appeal Is Made To The Public To Buy Christmas Seals

For the next few weeks the Canadian Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated agencies throughout the Dominion will be appealing to the public to buy Christmas Seals so that the vitally important preventative work in the field of T.B. can be carried on for another year.

Neither this newspaper, nor the Canadian Tuberculosis Association nor any one of the organizations it represents, wants the public to support this campaign without a knowledge of where its contributions are going. Let us, then, be very realistic for a moment.

The sale of these seals provides a great deal of the money with which to carry out preventative T.B. work in Canada. This money has purchased all x-ray equipment for both permanent and mobile clinics (where chest examinations are available free of charge), paid for many surveys, and continues the vitally necessary health education programme in homes, schools, offices and industrial plants. In other words, what these seals actually make possible is a broad programme of suppression of a disease which, if left unchecked, would be capable of killing off our population in a matter of a few years. The profit from seal sales is not used for curative work—that is carried out by public authorities through its sanatoria—but is used to unearth the existence of the disease and so make cure not only easier but more speedily accomplished.

From an even more realistic point of view, it might be explained that, based on accurate statistics, it costs nine times as much to cure a patient suffering from T.B. as it does to prevent the disease in the first place. That makes the adage "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" seem very, very sensible, indeed.

When we buy Christmas Seals—and everyone should—we should consider that we are at the same time helping ourselves and our own loved ones. T.B. is an insidious disease. It strikes without warning, and anyone of us, regardless of our station in life, could be a victim. If, through our individual purchases of Christmas Seals, we are safeguarding those near and dear to us, doesn't that make for good reasoning?

Consider these factors when your seals arrive. Sit down and make out a cheque, a generous one this time, and thank heaven the job of controlling and destroying this monstrous germ is in good hands.

CWAC BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

A team of Canadian Women's Army Corps personnel from the London Area, brought honour to Canada at an International Basketball Tournament held in Barking, London, on Friday night, Oct. 5, when they defeated an English team from Eastbury Youth Club. Although it was their first game of the season, the Canadian girls, inspired by their fast moving coach, Lieut. Gettas of St. Agnes, C.W.A.C. of Landis, Ont., centre, who scored eight baskets during the game, Lieut. Gettas played a game as guard, and three times during the evening sent the ball hurtling from remote parts of the floor into the Canadian basket. Proceeds from the game were in aid of the Barking Navy Week Fund. In two other games held during the tournament, England suffered defeat at the hands of the South American and U.S. Army teams. Players from the western provinces on the Canadian team were: Pte. F. Balin, Winnipeg; and Pte. F. Anderson, Regina.

WEDDING BELLS

The first wedding to take place in England between members of the C.W.A.C. and the R.N.Z.A.F. was solemnized when Pte. Catherine Duceynski, C.W.A.C. of Landis, Sask., became the bride of Pte. Sgt. Mark Rooney, of Lyttelton, N.Z. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Arthur, in St. Patrick's Church, North Camp, Aldershot. The bride was given in marriage by her step-brother, Cpl. J. Gartner, S.S.F.C.A., and attended by Pte. E. Madigan, C.W.A.C. of The Fus. Man. The best man was Pte. Sgt. W. P. Fletcher, R.N.Z.A.F., of Auckland, New Zealand. The reception was held in the C.W.A.C. recreation hall at Aldershot.

MEET A CWAC—

Cpl. H. M. Clark, daughter of Mrs. Maud Clark, 2186 Athol St., Regina, has recently returned from overseas, after being there nearly three years. Joining the Canadian Women's Army Corps in October, 1941, Cpl. Clark was posted to 120th Orderly Room C.A. (B) T.C., later taking a four months' clerk's course at the Saskatchewan Trade School, which at this time, was the first of its kind in Canada. Completing the course, she was posted as No. 4 Coy. Clerk in 120th Training Centre, where she remained until going overseas with the first CWAC draft in September, 1942. "It was quite a thrill disembarking somewhere in Scotland on Guy Fawkes Day (Nov. 5) to the strains of tunes such as 'It's a Long Way to Tipperary'." "Pick Up Your Troubles", and many others, said Cpl. Clark, "but the things that really seemed to catch our attention were the train whistles, quite different to what we were used to back home, and the queer chimney pots." Posted to Discipline Section (A Branch), London, Cpl. Clark explained that it involved of such things as road accidents, injuries, investigations, medical boards, etc. She later worked in the Military Secretary Section, dealing with all matters pertaining to officer personnel. "One of my most interesting days," recalled Corporal Clark, "was the day my chum and I visited Dover. It was a clear day, and, with the help of binoculars we were able to see the German gun emplacements on the coast of Calais. All of a sudden a shell warning went, and word was sent out that all members of His Majesty's Forces were to go to the nearest shelter. I'm afraid we pretended we didn't hear it, as we wanted to see what was going on. It was quite exciting." Just to give some idea of the cost of food over there, Cpl. Clark quoted a few prices: peaches about $1.40 each and grapes $2.50 for half a pound. Cpl. Clark returned to Canada in Sept., 1945. "I am certainly looking forward to going back for a visit some day," she said. Cpl. Clark is at present working in Central Registry, M.D. 12 District Headquarters.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

MEET SERGEANT BAKER

By VINCENT D. LUNNY

Copyright
Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate

Bunice Morgan was upstairs getting dressed. Carefully with deliberate movements she selected her clothes—the ones that best suited her trim figure.

She hummed a soft, lilting tune and her steps across the room, from clothes closet to dressing table to the full-length mirror on the far wall opposite the window, were buoyant as though she were walking on clouds.

Bunice Morgan was happy; very, very happy. And the inherent gait was reflected in every one of her movements.

Her brother was coming home on week-end leave. He was due in just a few minutes and, according to his last letter which lay beside the beauty kit on her bureau, he was bringing Sergeant Phil Baker with him.

Bunice was in love with Sergeant Baker; that is if a girl can be in love with a person she has never met. She had donned the first flimsy garment she felt a strange tingling of anticipation running up and down her spine and she analysed the deep feeling of excitement as love.

What would Sergeant Baker be like? He'd be tall and dark and he'd have bushy hair—the kind of hair she wanted her children to have. She surmised as she fastened an "unmentionable" around the sleek curve of her body.

But what if he's short and fat and hasn't any hair at all? It wouldn't matter, she decided, remembering the praise Bill had lavished on Sergeant Baker in his letters to her from the camp. No, it wouldn't matter at all. After all personality and compatibility count more than looks, she told herself.

In the last six months or more practically every letter from Bill had mentioned Baker. Just casual sentences like "Sergeant Baker is the orderlies room is a good egg. We have lots of fun together" or "Want for a walk with Phil Baker last night. It was better than just hanging around the camp."

From these references she reconstructed in her mind a mental picture of the Sergeant's personality and, because Bill liked him, she liked him too. That was in the beginning but now that she was going to meet Phil Baker this very evening she felt Cupid's little darts penetrating into her heart, playing strange tricks deep in her secret being.

She had cancelled a date for tonight with her regular boy friend, brawny Tom Williams, after she had arranged a party for Baker and her brother. She was going to surprise them.

She'd reserved a table for four on the Roof Gardens where they could eat and dance and chase the hours away and she'd got a date for Bill to complete the foursome.

Tom Williams was miffed, of course, or was that putting it mildly?

"He'd sounded angry when she had phoned to say that she couldn't keep the date with him because Bill was coming in on leave.

"You know how it is, Tom," she'd said. "My big brother doesn't get leave very often and I so much want to spend this evening with him."

"That's fine," he'd said. "But couldn't we arrange to go out somewhere all together?"

"She'd hesitated. "No-o. I... I... I don't think so, Tom. Not this time, if you don't mind it."

"But I do mind!" He'd detected her hesitation. His voice had risen and a note of anger had crept into it. "We have a dated check. And I don't see why your brother's visit should upset all the plans. He'd emphasized the word all. "Are you sure there isn't someone else involved?"

"Well, if you want to put it that way, there is," she'd replied. "I'm going out with Sergeant Baker, a friend of Bill's who's coming in with him."

"But... but you can't do that..."

"Oh, can't I?" she'd replied flippantly. "I can and I'm going to. Good-bye for now, Tom."

Bunice remembered the conversation as she pulled her best dress over her head. Oh, well, she could make up to him after the week-end and tonight she would have a grand time with Sergeant Baker.

She heard the door open as she dabbed perfume behind her ears and rubbed the last few drops into her eyebrows. There was a clamor of voices in the hall downstairs as Bill and the sergeant were greeted by other members of the family.

She brushed back a few unruly wisps of hair, looked at herself proudly in the mirror and, with heart beating faster and faster, she descended the stairs.

Bill met her at the foot of the staircase, neat as a button in his walking out uniform, with the new corporal's chevrons on his sleeves.

"Hi, sis," he greeted her enthusiastically, planting a big, brotherly kiss on her upturned cheek. "Sergeant Baker's here. He's turned her face so he wouldn't mar her lipstick. "All set for a big time tonight, Sis?"

"Oh-huh," bubbled. "I've reserved a table for four at the Roof Gardens... for the supper dance. And I've got a date for you with Polly Marshall... she'll be here in a few minutes."

"Polly Marshall? But... but..."

"No, but now. You sound like Tom Williams. Come on, take me into living room. Introduce me to Sergeant Baker. I'm just dying to meet your friend." Bunice took her brother by the arm and piloted him through the living room door.

A figure in khaki was sitting by the fireplace.

"Sis, I'd like you to meet Sergeant Phyllis Baker of the Women's Army Corps. She's a good egg. Why, Bunice, what's the matter?"

Television in Britain

To Produce Moderately Priced Sets

For Domestic Use

Television manufacturers in Britain are concentrating on the production of moderately priced television sets for domestic use, and large screen cinema types. That television is going to play an important part in the cinema is confirmed by J. Arthur Rank, leading figure in the United Kingdom film industry in a recent announcement that his company will co-operate with British radio firms in intensive research into large screen television. Eight hundred Gaumont cinemas will be equipped with television within the next few years.

WOULD SEEM FUNNY

Western Farm Leader, Calgary, says Captain Harper Prowse, one of the servicemen elected last year to the Alberta legislature, recently published in the Calgary Herald a number of pointers for civilians who want to make sure that the fighting men arriving back from the battlefronts get "the right impression." One of the "Don'ts" is this: "Don't try to impress him with the difficulties of meat rationing—he'll probably laugh at you."

Many Good Openings

Available in Smaller Towns For Dentists Leaving War Service

Dentists attached to the Canadian armed forces are reported to be facing a rehabilitation problem. They are coming out of the service to find the field somewhat crowded in the cities, and openings existing only in the smaller towns.

This is not entirely to be regretted. It is likely to lead to a movement that will be to the advantage of both the country and the dental profession. It is no hardship to live in a small town. In fact, there is much in such places to make life worth while. A man with a good profession can really make a success of it there, and his position will be enjoyable and attractive, for he will find himself a prominent citizen, looked up to and respected. Added to this will be the service he can render people who, too often in the past, have been denied the best in treatment because of the lure of the metropolitan field.

SMILE AWHILE

Jones: "I hear you bought a car cheap the other day. How are you getting on with it?"

Smith: "I'm just realizing how hard it is to drive a bargain."

Sister's Sutor: "Johnny, I dislike to tell you, but last night at the party your sister promised to become my wife. Can you forgive me for taking her away?"

Johnny: "Stinks, that's what the party was for."

"That was a beautiful hat, Pat, your wife wore to church last Sunday. It was so high I could hardly see the pulpit above it."

"It should 'a' been beautiful Mike; an' if she'd worn the bill that come with it, you wouldn't 'a' seen the steeple!"

Fittings in the House of a Hollywood film actress are made of gold. All the curtains are hung on her former wedding rings.

"Do you really love me, Alfred?" asked the girl.

"Ethel, I refer you to my last letter," replied the young man.

"Devo'tedly is on the first page, 'mainly' on page 3, 'passionately' on pages 4 and 5, and 'in death do us part' in the postscript. I cannot be more explicit, Ethel!"

"Would you like to see a model home?"

"Glad to. What time does she quit work?"

"Why did you leave your last job?"

"Illness. The boss got sick of me."

Bill: "Did any one in your family ever make a brilliant marriage?"

Arthur: "Only my wife."

He never knew what real happiness was until he got married; and then it was too late.

He was reading to his wife an account of a famous naturalist's accident.

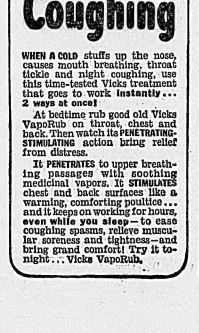

"Reaching for a rare plant, he slipped over the cliff, and as he fell he gathered momentum."

"Oh, George," she interrupted, "the poor man! What an enthusiast he must have been. Fancy picking flowers even as he fell."

"Is your boy friend a bookworm?"

"No, just an ordinary kind."

Small town stuff. Bob Miller of Eastend, Sask., looked out of his window one morning, saw two coyotes departing each with a chicken in mouth. He fired his gun, and dropped his catch. He sprayed poison on the dead bird, and left it there. The next morning beside it he found a rat, a skunk and a coyote, all very dead.

A little industry but growing. In Manitoba, the Co-op Vegetable Oil Ltd. meeting at Altona heard that 12,000 acres of sunflowers had been planted in the southern part of the province; over 90% was undamaged by frost and the basis of a $ a lb. surplus; farmers over half a million dollars for this crop alone.

He punched right out, did the editor of the Manitou (Man.) Western Canadian, with the following editorial: "The long election, and it might do us all good to read and digest it: 'It is a crying shame that scarcely any interest is being taken by people qualified to express their views on the election; and it is a crying shame that the representative desired by the majority to be sent to the legislature for the next term. The gross indifference is positively insulting to the electorate. In former days, parties were on their toes on the announcement of an election, and much interest in public affairs was manifest. Now the apathy is most appalling. Nobody seems to give a damn whether school keeps or not... Our young men and women are lackadaisical as to the future, caring more for dances, sports and other forms of amusement, than for matters touching the public questions. We survey this local siding, and we cannot find an ambitious young man or woman to reach out for this honorable office of representing people in the halls of government. Like the weeds along the roadside, political interests, which means nothing more or less than the business of the public, has gone to seed. It is a very dangerous state of affairs, and it must dire results to the freedom of the people will surely result."

The North Battleford (Sask.) Optimist has this to say: "The Canadian bringing to the attention of the discover that rationing there is upon a far more rigorous scale, and that housekeeping is more difficult than in the United States. The rationing of monomethyl brides is all to the good. It will be a means of cementing the Commonwealth of Nations together in a more binding manner. Here's wishing long life and happiness to all the gals."

A mighty fine record for the five sons of Mr. and Mrs. John MacDonald of Umanabuch, N.B., who enlisted in the Royal Rifles of Canada at the same time; four were made prisoners at Hong Kong and the four have now been liberated. What a homecoming that will be.

Fur-Bearing Sheep

Technique For The Treatment Of Sheep Pelts

Australian sheep may soon produce "furs" for coats and trimming. Victorian Minister for Agriculture Norman Martin has announced a new technique for treating sheep pelts to make them into furs resembling beaver.

He explained that pelts with only half to one and a half inches of wool, for which the farmer usually received between one and six pennies (10 to 8c), could be made to replace ordinary trade furs for trimmings, and would wear better than ordinary furs. They were not yet on the market, but the pioneers of the new process in Victoria were far in advance of American competitors.

One of the leading manufacturers had gone abroad to secure machinery and he estimated that with the employment of 1,000 workers, only five per cent. need be trained. Mr. Martin found his making carpet rugs and handbags from sheepskin.—Australian News Letter.

BREAKFAST SUGGESTIONS

"Bigger breakfasts—better lunches" will be the nutrition theme song for the coming winter. Too many people have acquired the habit of eating on the run lately because of so little time. With even more hours of strenuous work in the office, however, everyone needs a hearty meal with which to start out the day. It's a good health investment.

An ideal cold weather breakfast includes a hot cereal. Occasionally, hot milk on rusks is a welcome variation from the usual cooked cereals. It's nutritious and easily prepared in no time at all. The addition of cooked fruit make it a special treat.

Rusks, as well as other foods, contain an abundance of calories or heat units, and they rank high among suppliers of food-energy. Fortunately, they're inexpensive and always available.

Either whole fruit or fruit juice should also be included in the breakfast menu. Oranges, and grapefruit contain vitamin C and other fruits supply various other vitamins and minerals which are essential to a well-rounded diet. Eggs in some form should be served four times a week if possible. Other times pan-fried, sweet rolls, toast and bacon or sausage complete the menu.

Many housewives find that a few minutes of rest, at the beginning of each week, devoted to planning menus for the entire seven days, saves time and makes for better nutritional efficiency. You, as homemakers, play one of the most important roles as the custodian of your families' health. You are responsible for keeping them on the job every day, so be sure to see that they are properly fed.

THE K... TORONTO

CALIFORNIA, HERE WE COME!

If you've got wanderlust in your system but the pocketbook whispers "can't be done," R.C.A.P. Sgt. and Mrs. Johnnie Allen, Toronto, can give you a few tips. They made a trip to Los Angeles and back in 13 days and it cost them less than $70. The Allens thumbed all the way. Allen, who was stationed at Aymer, Ont., and his wife just got out on the highway. They stuck up their thumbs and six days later they were visiting friends in California. They came back the same way, making the return trip in seven days. Truck and bus drivers are really gentlemen on the road, the Allens felt. "The longest wait we ever had for a lift was less than three hours," Allen said. The Allens were newly-weds when they set out for Los Angeles, so although not intended as such it turned out to be their honeymoon trip. Allen is now at the University of Toronto, completing the education interrupted by the war.

Radio Industry

Britain To Undertake Important Expansion In Research

Plans for the United Kingdom radio industry to undertake large-scale development work for the services was announced on October 5th by Air Vice Marshal Tait, Director General of Signals at the United Kingdom Air Ministry.

This step will entail an important expansion in radio research—an expansion which will also benefit the industry's civilian customers, since the new development and advances can be incorporated in the commercial radio products.

Apart from the fact that there is an acute world shortage of radio equipment, Britain's ability to produce the most modern equipment, incorporating all the latest technical devices, will give the industry a leading place in overseas markets, says Air Vice Marshal Tait. Export opportunities in the field of television and radar will be especially great.

British Scrapped Arithmetic Books Used In German Schools

British education officers had to start pretty well from scratch when it came to re-opening schools in Germany. Even the arithmetic books had to be scrapped for they contained problem such as this:

"If four Germans can do a job in 12 days which it takes eight Poles or 16 Jews to do in the same time, how long would it take four Germans and 12 Poles to do a job which takes 30 Jews 40 days?"

Expression Of Appreciation

With this issue the Chinook Advance ceases publication, after serving the town and district for nearly 30 years. Established by the late J. Mr. Nicholson and carried on after his death by the present Editor, Mrs. Nicholson, it has served the community well.

It's passing will be regretted by it's many readers, to whom like my self in the early settlement of the district it was almost the only means of keeping in touch with the outside world. It was the first of the mail to be read, it recorded the births, deaths, marriages and other items of interest to both the residents and those who had moved away. To a great many of us it is like the removal of another Landmark, such as our schools and farm homes and creates a break in the history of our district. To it's editor, Mrs. Nicholson, we extend our best wishes on her retirement and trust she will long be spared to enjoy her well earned leisure.

DISCHARGED PERSONNEL MAY RETURN TO OLD JOBS

The Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act, passed by Parliament in 1942, sets forth conditions under which employers MUST REINSTATE their former employees in their employment after discharge.

This Act and its Regulations are administered by the Dominion Minister of Labour, through the National Employment Service. Reinstatement Officers are available in the National Employment Offices to answer inquiries, and assist in adjusting cases.

Employees—either men or women—are to be reinstated if:

- they worked for their employer 3 months immediately prior to enlistment, and were not replacing another employee who has since been reinstated;
- they left their employment to join the Armed Services, the Merchant Marine, or the Fire Fighters Corps;
- they apply to their employer for reinstatement, verbally or in writing, within 3 months following discharge in Canada or 4 months if discharged Overseas.

Provision may be made for extension of time if the employee's health prevents him or her from returning within the specified three months. In this event, the employer must be advised within the 3 or 4 months, as the case may be.

The following points in the legislation are also important:

- Discharged men and women upon reinstatement are to be given conditions not less favourable than would have been enjoyed had they continued in employment instead of joining the Forces.
- The period of time spent with the Armed Services is to count for seniority rights, pension rights, vacations with pay, and certain other benefits.
- Discharged personnel who cannot perform their former duties are to be reinstated in the most suitable employment available, at which they are capable of working.
- If an employer dismisses a reinstated employee within 6 months, he must be able to prove in court that he had reasonable cause for so doing.

ALL EX-SERVICE MEN AND WOMEN ARE URGED TO USE THE FACILITIES OF THE NATIONAL EMPLOYMENT SERVICE WHEN LOOKING FOR WORK.

Who Benefits Most From Victory Bonds?

(Chinook and District) people who have bought Victory Bonds, to help Canada, war effort, have learned, the value of saving money.

We have learned that we can save.

We have learned how to save.

WE HAVE OUR BONDS, Dividends, twice a year, remind us that we are better off because we have invested in Victory Bonds.

Now, we are asked to buy Victory Bonds again.

Yes, the war is ended... but a lot of war costs remain to be paid. Canada still needs all the money that every Canadian can save and lend.

Starving allies look to Canada for food. Devasted countries need so many things that we can supply. Canada must extend credits to these countries to help put them back on their feet... to enable them to purchase from us the things they need...

food from Canadian farms... products of Canadian factories. In this way the Victory Bonds we buy will help to insure a higher level of employment by providing markets for Canadian goods.

Men and women who have served in the Navy, Army and Air Force must be re-established in civil life. This is a big job and it will cost money to do, but it must be done and done well. Victory Bonds will help to pay the cost.

And... by putting off buying everything we can do without... and using our savings to buy more Victory Bonds... we will help to keep down prices of things we have to buy... we will help to prevent inflation. This, too, is important!

It is announced that there will be only one Victory Loan in the next 15 months. So all of us are expected to buy double this time. The same rate of saving as in previous loans will pay for twice as many bonds over the 12-month period.

FARMERS CAN BUY VICTORY BONDS THROUGH ANY BANK

... just sign a short form letter which Victory Loan Salesmen carry (banks have copies) ordering the bank to buy Victory Bonds for you. Pay 5 per cent when ordering the bonds and the balance at any time during the next twelve months. The interest the bonds earn pays the interest on the bank loan.

REAL ACHIEVEMENT

Try and recall any Service farmers have to purchase, the charges for which were lowered during the war years and prior thereto. Can you think of more than one?

Yet grain handling charges in country elevators was reduced to the lowest point in history during the war years.

The reason therefore was the fact that the Wheat Pools, the farmers' own organizations are in business.

The Wheat Pools have earned the whole-hearted support of every farmer.
